

HOTEL DALT MURADA

HISTORY

The Dalt Murada Hotel is located in Palma's old town center, in a house once property of the Mallorcan Nobility.

The Ca'n Sureda de Sant Martí house is on Almudaina Street, provably one of the most exclusive streets in the medieval times. Ca'n Sureda de Sant Martí was owned by Salvador Sureda de Sant Martí i Sa Font in the XV century. He was at the service of King Alfonso V, King Joan II and the Catholic King, he became famous by challenging the Catalonian knight Francisco de Valseca in presence of the monarch of Aragon in 1444 while in Naples.

This family always had very important political and administrative duties in the Mallorcan kingdom

When Don Mariano Salvador Sureda de Sant Martí i Desbrull passed away without successors, the family died down and the house on Almudaina street changed on to the Sureda families's hands, branch of the Marquis of Vivot, who owned the property until the XIX century. Later it became the residence of the family Bestard de la torre. Now the house ins in the hands of the Sancho Moragues family. The Moragues family came to Mallorca in 1230.

Today the Hotel Dalt Murada is located in this house and the original distribution has been kept. The hotel has three double rooms and five suites.
